Through sources available to your office immediately ascertain discreetly whether or not Triliegi is actually employed as represented in relet and, if so, the specific position and duties involved. Determine through your sources details of the project and Government contract involved along with the identity of the Government agency furnishing construction funds.

Incorporate this information and contents of relet into a LHM. Include therein a brief documentation of Triliegi along with a statement that no further action will be taken in connection with this matter in the absence of a specific request from the USA's Office or the Criminal Division. Submit LHM by return airtel cover. Furnish LHM to USA.

Bureau should be advised promptly by appropriate communication in the event additional information concerning this matter is obtained or the USA's Office requests investigation. Such communication should include any action contemplated by your office.

Re Bureau File 92-3198.

On May 14, 1963, [redacted] an employee of the U. S. Marshal's Office, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, advised that on the previous day, May 13, 1963, she received an anonymous telephone call from an individual whom she could only describe as having a voice which sounded like that of a Negro male. [redacted] stated that this unknown individual, who would not identify himself, stated that JOHN BATTISTA TRILIEGI, a foreman at the Wood, Wisconsin Veterans Administration Center, is shaking down employees working for him. She stated that the caller indicated TRILIEGI demanded 30% of the employees' earnings and the caller further indicated that he could obtain a job working at the VA Center on a construction job there if he would pay TRILIEGI $25 per week as a result of his hiring him.

[redacted] stated that she tried to get the caller to reveal his name or to come down to the United States Attorney's Office, but that the person would not agree.

On May 15, 1963, the above-mentioned allegation was discussed with USA JAMES B. BRENNAN, EDW, Milwaukee, at which time Mr. BRENNAN stated that he desired no investigation whatever be conducted at this time. USA BRENNAN felt that if TRILIEGI or anyone else was shaking down employees at the construction job any inquiry based on the non-specific allegation would interfere with the receipt of a specific complaint at a later date. Mr. BRENNAN stated that in keeping with Departmental regulations he was so advising the Department.

Accordingly, no inquiry is being conducted by the Milwaukee Office at this time, and this matter is being considered closed.

Construction Firm to Aid FBI Probe of Pay-Off Charges

Company Says It Doesn't Know of Kickbacks on Wood Job

An official of Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corp. said Friday that the construction firm would co-operate with the FBI "to the fullest extent" in the investigation of alleged pay-offs required of laborers on the new veterans' hospital project at Wood.

H. R. Erickson, industrial relations manager of the New York firm, said:

"We are not aware of anything of the sort, nor has it ever been brought to our attention. We would certainly be favorable toward co-operating with the FBI to the fullest extent to clear this matter up.

"We will be just as interested in it as the FBI is until it is either proven or disproven."

Merritt-Chapman & Scott is general contractor for the $23,-500,000 project.

Erickson came here from New York city after the FBI confirmed Thursday that it was investigating complaints that some laborers had to pay up to $50 to get jobs on the hospital project and $25 a week to keep them.

It is a federal offense for anyone to obtain pay-offs from a worker employed on a project financed in whole or in part by the federal government. Offenses are punishable by five years' imprisonment or a $5,000 fine or both.

The outgoing president of local 113 of the laborers' union, Peter Poberezny, also said he had not heard any complaints from members about being asked for pay-offs.

"If there has been any such payment, the man who received it should be in the penitentiary," Poberezny said. "Our union does not allow such a thing."

Max Waismann, who defeated Poberezny in a recent election,

Poberezny said about 25% of the laborers on the hospital job were hired from a referral-list supplied by the union to the contractor. The others are selected from groups of men who go to the project looking for

He said there had been much complaining about alleged favoritism in hiring. He attributed this to the men's disappointment at not being chosen.

"This is a two year project with steady work," he said. "You don't hear many complaints about men not being hired for seasonal work like the highway projects."

New VA Hospital Workers Questioned on 'Kickbacks'

FBI Enters Investigation at Wood Site

Checks Report Some Paid $50 to Get Jobs, $25 a Week to Keep Them.

Complaints that laborers have had to pay up to $50 to get jobs on the new veterans' administration hospital project at Wood are under investigation by the FBI.

Federal agents have been interviewing the laborers since Monday. In all, about 70 men were expected to be questioned.

The investigation was confirmed Thursday by Paul H. Stoddard, special agent in charge of the Milwaukee FBI office. He said his agents were investigating "to determine if a federal violation exists."

Stoddard refused to comment or give the name of complainants and other details while the investigation was in progress.

Reportedly, construction laborers complained that they had to pay up to $50 to get their jobs and then pay an additional $25 a week to stay on the payroll.

Largest in Country
 The new 1,264 bed hospital will be a 10 story, H-shaped structure fronting on W. National av. between S. 49th and S. 50th sts., east of the present hospital. It is being built at a cost of $23,500,000 and will be the largest single VA hospital in the country when completed in 1964.

The general contractor is Merritt Chapman & Scott Corp., New York.

Inspector Harold A. Breier said Thursday that the Milwaukee police department sometime ago received information that an ex-convict was working on the Wood construction project. He said the police received no reports of pay-offs.

"We conducted an investigation and found no violation of the law," he said. "We turned the matter over to the FBI."

Complaints of Favoritism
 Spokesmen for the building contractor and for local 113 of the laborers' union have confirmed that some ex-convicts and known hoodlums were employed as laborers on the project.

There have been numerous complaints of favoritism in the hiring of laborers. The company spokesman said he had no complaint about the caliber of laborers supplied for the job. He said the firm did not discriminate against a man because of a criminal record if he did his work well.

This is to advise that Congressman Clement J. Zablocki (Democrat-Wisconsin) by letter of 6/27/63 requested to be advised of facts of our investigation into alleged unusual hiring practices in construction of a Veterans Administation hospital, Wood, Wisconsin.

We do have a pending case concerning the matter inquired into by Congressman Zablocki. U. S. Attorney James B. Brennan, Milwaukee, by letter 6/12/63 requested Bureau investigation of allegations that Triliegi was shaking down employees by requiring payment to him of hiring fees and weekly kickbacks from salaries. Triliegi is employed as a labor foreman for Merritt, Chapman and Scott Corporation, the general contractor constructing the Veterans Administration Hospital at Wood, Wisconsin. Federal funds are being used to finance the project. Such practice could constitute violation of the Kickback Racket Act which prohibits receipt of any part of the compensation of an employee engaged in construction financed with Federal funds, induced by force, intimidation, or threat of dismissal.

Our investigation involves interviews of those employees who have been under Triliegi's supervision since the construction commenced in June, 1962. At the present time there are approximately sixty laborers on the job, many of whom are under Triliegi's supervision. This investigation is being expedited.

Triliegi, subject of FBI Identification Record 1868580, has been arrested in the past on charges of Statutory Rape, Inmate of a Gambling House and Burglary. He was released from imprisonment at the Nevada State Prison in 1954 after serving a sentence in connection with a burglary at Reno, Nevada, in 1952.

Bureau relations with Congressman Zablocki have been friendly and there is no derogatory information in our files concerning him.

RECOMMENDATION:

That Assistant Director DeLoach's office personally contact Congressman Zablocki in order to give him an oral briefing concerning this case. Assistant Director DeLoach concurs in this action.

approximately 60 general laborers and 10 former laborers are or have been under TRILIEGI's supervision. [REDACTED] TRILIEGI, considers him an excellent foreman and that no complaints concerning TRILIEGI have been brought to his attention. [REDACTED] states he has full responsibility as to when and the number of laborers hired and that all laborers are hired through referrals by Local 113 of the General Construction Laborers Union, AF of L. [REDACTED] states he has heard nothing concerning alleged kickbacks. Seventy laborers or former laborers under TRILIEGI's supervision interviewed and all state they have not paid TRILIEGI or anyone else to obtain job or stay on job although some relate they heard rumors concerning alleged payments for jobs. JOHN BATTISTA TRILIEGI, FBI # 1868580, denies that he has ever received kickbacks from anyone or that SAM DI MAGGIO collected from anyone for him. SAMUEL SALVATORE DI MAGGIO, FBI # 972204, a Wisconsin State Prison parolee, denies that he approached anyone in his own, TRILIEGI's or anyone else's behalf regarding job payoffs.

DETAILS: At Milwaukee, Wisconsin

This investigation is predicated upon the request of U.S. Attorney JAMES B. BRENNAN, Eastern District of Wisconsin, dated June 12, 1963, who advised that [REDACTED] Chief, Fraud Section, Criminal Division, Department of Justice, had directed that an investigation be conducted. Previously on May 14, 1963 [REDACTED], an employee of the U.S. Marshal's Office, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, advised that on the previous day, May 13, 1963, she received an anonymous telephone call from an individual whom she could only describe as having a voice which sounded like that of a Negro male. [REDACTED] who made this information available to Special Agent L. G. BROCKMAN, stated that this unknown individual, who would not identify himself, stated that JOHN BATTISTA TRILIEGI, a foreman at the Wood, Wisconsin Veterans Administration Center, is shaking down employees working for him. [redacted] stated that the caller indicated that TRILIEGI demanded 30% of the employees' earnings, and the caller indicated that he could have obtained a job working at the Veterans Administration Center on a construction job there if he would pay TRILIEGI $25 per week as a result of his hiring him. [redacted] stated that she tried to get the caller to reveal his name but he would not do so.

On May 27, 1963 [redacted]

[redacted] advised that

JOHN BATTISTA TRILIEGI was presently employed and has been so employed since July 2, 1962 as a labor foreman for Merritt, Chapman and Scott Corporation of New York, who is the general contractor under Contract V1006C-530, Project 48-5147. [redacted]

[redacted] stated that the contract provides for the construction of a 1,264 bed, general medicine and surgery hospital and a Regional Office Medical Clinic at the Veterans Administration Center, Wood, Wisconsin, and that the project commenced on June 25, 1962 and was 16-9/10% completed. [redacted] advised that TRILIEGI who is paid $3.42 per hour, is one of five labor foremen, and that the duties of TRILIEGI and other labor foremen include the placing of concrete and compacted fill, the receiving and unloading of general construction materials, and subject to the approval of the Project Superintendent, the hiring of laborers. [redacted] stated that there are approximately 60 laborers presently on the job and that TRILIEGI had about 12 laborers under his supervision. [redacted] stated that all of the funds furnished for this project under the contract are furnished by the Veterans Administration.

[redacted] Merritt, Chapman and Scott Corporation, advised that he hired JOHN BATTISTA TRILIEGI as the General Labor Foreman on the construction site and that he considers TRILIEGI to be an excellent foreman. [redacted] stated that there are four other labor foremen in the employ of Merritt, Chapman and Scott but TRILIEGI is the only foreman who hires labor under the supervision of [redacted] or [redacted]

[redacted] stated that all hiring of labor is done through an arrangement with Local 113 of the General Construction Laborers Union, AF of L. [redacted] stated that laborers seeking employment at the site are usually referred from the union headquarters with a slip indicating they are eligible for hiring. [redacted] stated that it would be customary for these laborers to report to [redacted]

[redacted] but he in turn would refer them to TRILIEGI who actually would do the hiring after [redacted] instructed TRILIEGI as to the needs for labor for that particular day. [redacted] stated that he has received no complaints relative to kickbacks and he has received no complaints whatsoever concerning TRILIEGI's performance on the job. He stated that TRILIEGI is presently being paid at the rate of $3.57 per hour and that including overtime TRILIEGI averages about $200 per week.

[redacted] made available the names and addresses of all laborers employed on the job by Merritt, Chapman and Scott, as well as those laborers who for one reason or another had left the job since the job began.

He said he was hired by [redacted] Business Agent of Local 113 of the Laborer's Union, AFL. He simply appeared at the union hall and [redacted] recognized him as an experienced labor foreman, and so hired him for the job at Wood, Wisconsin.

When [redacted] appeared on the job, however, the general labor foreman, JOHN TRILIEGI, told him that he [redacted] could not hire men and that, instead, TRILIEGI himself would do all the hiring. TRILIEGI told him simply "to maintain the men."

As a result, [redacted] never hired anyone there except one person, a friend of his, [redacted]. That had been done with TRILIEGI's assent.

[redacted] and TRILIEGI belonged to the same car pool for several months. In that pool there also had been two sons-in-law of TRILIEGI, [redacted] and [redacted] as well as TRILIEGI's son, [redacted] and another man, SAM DI MAGGIO.

During the autumn or early winter of 1962 a man named [redacted] and SAM DI MAGGIO got into trouble with the Milwaukee Police over some bad checks. [redacted] at least, was arrested, and although DI MAGGIO was not in the car pool at that time, TRILIEGI told those who still were left in the pool, that he needed $250.00 to get SAM out of police trouble. TRILIEGI said [redacted] would give $100 and he himself would give him another $100 and the pool should furnish the remaining $50.00.

[redacted] however, had not made any contribution to the DI MAGGIO fund, which TRILIEGI at first said needed to be given to DI MAGGIO's lawyer and then later said would have to be given to DI MAGGIO's probation officer.

in connection with construction work. Actually, when [redacted] was hired, [redacted] had hired him as the [redacted] [redacted] TRILIEGI somehow, however, had assumed that position and given [redacted] of a certain group of men.

Finally, the difficulties between the two men reached a climax and one day a superintendent at Merritt, Chapman and Scott, [redacted] fired [redacted]. He said the reason for the dismissal was that [redacted]

[redacted]
TRILIEGI supported [redacted] on the charge and [redacted] denied it.

[redacted] took his complaint of a false accusation against himself before the union filing charges both against TRILIEGI and [redacted]. The dismissal, however, was upheld by the Chief Superintendent of Merritt, Chapman and Scott, [redacted] who told [redacted] that he had no intentions of being told how to run his business.

Currently, [redacted] has filed suit against TRILIEGI and [redacted] trying to recover in court his damaged reputation and means of livelihood.

[redacted] said he had heard "rumors" that some Merritt, Chapman and Scott laborers were "paying off" some of the foremen, but he said he could not identify the sources of those rumors.

[redacted] emphasized that he himself did not pay anyone to get or keep his job and was never approached by anyone to do so.

[redacted]

[redacted] said he had heard various rumors, probably at the labor union hall, that several of the laborers at Wood were "kicking back" part of their wages to TRILIEGI or others as part payment for getting their jobs there or for keeping them. He said he could not be specific, however, about who precisely made those complaints.

[redacted] did remember one occasion when six or seven of the men were gathered together at the labor shanty, a shanty where they changed clothes. One of the men present was a man whose surname was [redacted]. He was an ex-convict.

On that occasion, there was general talk about the fact that some of the men gave back parts of their checks to somebody on the job and [redacted] said he was doing that, but [redacted] laughed while he said it and could have been joking and he did not specify to whom he was making his pay backs.

The incident occurred about one month before [redacted] was laid off.

The only other person who might have heard [redacted] make the remark was one [redacted] who was present at that time. The others there [redacted] could not remember.

Approximately in the late fall of 1962, SAM DI MAGGIO and a man named [redacted] who also worked at Wood, got into trouble with Milwaukee Police about some bad checks. DI MAGGIO did not belong to the car pool then, but TRILIEGI did and TRILIEGI told the pool that SAM needed $250.00 to get him out of trouble. TRILIEGI added that [redacted] the union's business agent, would give SAM $100 that he, TRILIEGI, would give $100, and that the pool should furnish the other $50.00.

[redacted] said that he himself would personally give $10.00 in cash to SAM as a result of TRILIEGI's assertions.

When he did so, he did not tell SAM why he was giving him the money and SAM accepted the money without making any comment.

He went to work for Merritt Chapman and Scott Construction Company, Wood, Wisconsin, [] having been hired by JOHN TRILIEGI as a result of appearing daily on the site of the job until he was hired. He was not approached for payment for obtaining his job nor to maintain his job. However, he has heard that payoffs have been occurring. He stated that a [] named [] (LNU) quit supposedly because of the payoffs. The way he hears it is that JOHN TRILIEGI propositions the fellows for payments and SAM DI MAGGIO does the collection work. However, he has no personal knowledge of anyone making payoffs. TRILIEGI imports friends from Italy to work on the job and these may be the parties who are making the payoffs, inasmuch as some of these people, not speaking English, have obtained jobs immediately upon entering the United States, Milwaukee.

[redacted] confessed he had heard "rumors" for a long time that such "kickbacks" occurred on the part of several laborers who belonged to Local Union 113, Building Laborers Union. He remembered he heard such rumors while he worked as a laborer on the construction of the Marine Plaza a year or two ago, at the union hall when small gatherings of men informally discussed their jobs and perhaps on other occasions. But he said he did not recall the identities of those persons who initiated those "rumors."

[redacted] said he understood the union's business agent, [redacted] had "checked on the rumors" and found there was nothing to them.

In any case, [redacted] said, he himself had never paid anyone to get or keep his job and no one had ever approached him with such a request.

[redacted] stated he saw and spoke to TRILIEGI about the possibility of obtaining employment as a laborer on a Thursday and was advised by TRILIEGI to report the following Monday ready to go to work.

[redacted] stated he paid no one to get the job and that he is not paying anyone to stay on the job. He stated that neither DiMAGGIO nor JOHN TRILIEGI said anything to him whatever about the payment of money to obtain or stay on the job.

[redacted] stated that since he has obtained employment he has been contacted by another employee named [redacted] as to whether or not he desired to rejoin the union. [redacted] stated he advised [redacted] he would join the union as soon as he was able to get a pay check or two.

[redacted] was contacted at his home. [redacted] advised that he is employed as a [redacted] [redacted] at a project being built at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Wood, Wisconsin, the contractor being Merritt, Chapman and Scott. He said that he first sought employment at this project from June, 1962 until September, 1962 with no success, but that during that time others who came after him were hired. In September, October and November of 1962 he secured other employment on bridge work in and around Milwaukee and then again sought employment at the Veterans Administration Hospital when this work expired in November, 1962. He began his present employment in February, 1963. He advised that he had never been asked to pay any money to JOHN TRILIEGI or anyone else at the Veterans Administration Hospital project in order to secure employment there. He stated, however, that during the period from November, 1962 until February, 1963 he would go daily to the project in an effort to secure employment and that TRILIEGI would tell him to come back later and that when he came back others would have been hired.

[redacted] advised that he has been in the U.S. approximately [redacted]. He advised that he is employed by the Meritt, Chapman & Scott Construction Company working at Wood, Wisconsin and has been so employed for approximately [redacted]. He stated that to obtain the job he went out to Wood, Wisconsin and asked JOHN the foreman for the job. JOHN sent him to the union office which he believes was the construction laborers union and [redacted] signed up for the union. He then returned to Wood and was hired by JOHN to work for Meritt, Chapman & Scott. He advised that he paid $25 from his first pay check to the union business agent as half of his initial fee of $50. He is to pay the other $25 next week. He stated that he paid no one at Wood or anyone else to obtain the job nor is paying anyone else to keep the job. He advised that he has never heard of anyone paying to obtain a job nor paying to keep it, however, since he speaks no English cannot talk to most of the other employees on the job.

[redacted] advised as follows:

In the early part of 1963 he was hired as a laborer by JOHN TRILIEGI. He was assigned to the Veterans Administration hospital at Wood, Wisconsin, which construction is being handled by the Merritt, Chapman, and Scott Construction Co. He stated that he has known JOHN TRILIEGI for a number of years and has found him a hard, rugged worker. At no time, however, has he ever heard that TRILIEGI has demanded funds to give a man a job or asked for kickbacks in order for a man to retain his job.

[redacted] stated he was fired by TRILIEGI because they did not see eye-to-eye. In spite of the fact that he dislikes TRILIEGI, he does not believe any rumors to the effect that TRILIEGI sold jobs or requested kickbacks from his subordinates.

[redacted] advised that he was born [redacted] and that he was formerly employed as a laborer by Merritt, Chapman and Scott on the construction project at Wood, Wisconsin. [redacted] stated that in March, 1963, he was seeking employment and reported almost every morning for about a week at the site and contacted JOHN TRILIEGI and [redacted] for a job. After about a week TRILIEGI told him to sign in and thereafter he worked for approximately two and a half weeks when he quit of his own accord.

[redacted] stated he has been in the construction field all his life and that he belonged to Local 113 of the General Laborers' Union for approximately six years. He stated he quit his job only because he didn't enjoy working at the site and he was able to obtain employment in a more enjoyable job with the [redacted]

[redacted] stated that he never gave anyone any money or anything else of value to obtain his job at Merritt, Chapman and Scott, and that he was never contacted by TRILIEGI or anyone else for any payments of any kind. [redacted] stated that he did hear rumors on the job that some fellows had paid to get on the job, but in all honesty he has never heard any specific information indicating that anyone did pay to get on the job.

Date July 3, 1963

[redacted] advised that he obtained his present job as laborer for Merritt-Chapman and Scott at the construction of the Veterans Administration Hospital at Woods, Wisconsin, about eight or nine months previously. He had been a member of the Laborers Union, Local 113, for about the past three years and had obtained his job through his union membership and through inquiry at the union hall, not through the offices of any friend on the job.

[redacted] said he had no definite information regarding any "paybacks" which might have been made by the Merritt-Chapman and Scott laborers to persons such as labor foremen to get or hold their jobs there. He recalled having overheard some unemployed workers in line at the union hall during the winter months of early 1963 making some such comments, generally to the effect that one had to "pay back" part of his wages to get a job there. But he said he had no further information about such "paybacks."

[redacted] confessed it seemed strange to him that, unlike the policy on other jobs for laborers, the policy at the Veterans Administration Hospital seemed to be to hire "the flunkies" first. Normally the policy was to hire, at the beginning of a job, the skilled and experienced laborers and then, as needed, the unskilled and untrained laborers.

[redacted] was one of the first laborers at the Veterans Administration Hospital construction. He was struck by the number of persons of Italian extraction, by the number of Negroes, and the number of Italian immigrants unable to speak English who were among those originally hired. They were not experienced workers.

[redacted] also said that JOHN TRILIEGI, general labor foreman, was feared by the Italian immigrants and the colored men who worked for him. In the labor shanty on the construction site the talk among the men usually was active, loud, and aggressive. When TRILIEGI made an entrance there, however, talk dramatically subsided in both volume and agitation.

[redacted] said he did not know why the men feared TRILIEGI. He himself had no cause to be afraid of him.

[redacted] emphasized that he had never paid anyone anything to get or keep his job and no one had suggested to him that he do so.

b6
b7C

Date July 3, 1963

[redacted] advised that he was currently the [redacted]

member of the Building Laborers Union, Local 113, a local union which belonged to that council. In that capacity, he said, he had heard "rumors" of various "payoffs" made by laborers on construction at the Marine Plaza about a year ago to others on the job, in payment for getting their jobs or for keeping them. He said, however, he could not remember the source of those "rumors."

To some extent the "rumors" applied also to the present construction of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Wood, Wisconsin, but [redacted] believed that the "rumors" there consisted of "an overflow of talk" which originated at the time of the Plaza construction.

However, he admitted that his own son, [redacted] currently a laborer at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Wood, told him several months ago that there was a "payoff" there. But when [redacted] questioned [redacted] about the facts of the matter, [redacted] too, had not been specific and [redacted] "could not pin the rumors down."

The "rumors" applied to the labor foreman whose first name was JOHN. That foreman was of Italian extraction and [redacted] said he understood that some of the laborers under JOHN had "a blood relationship" to JOHN.

[redacted] stated that it is his sole responsibility to advise when and how many men must be hired on the construction job and usually he advises JOHN TRILIEGI, the General Labor Foreman, or the Business Agent of Local 113 on a daily basis. [redacted] stated that 75% of all laborers hired at the site have referral slips from Local 113 at the time they report at the construction site, which means simply that they are members of the union or have satisfied the union that they have an intention to join. [redacted] stated that he then signs all hiring slips after they are referred to him by JOHN TRILIEGI.

[redacted] stated that he knows of no incidents concerning alleged payoffs for obtaining jobs or for kickbacks of any kind and that he first learned of the so-called payoffs after the FBI had started to make inquiries at Wood, Wisconsin. [redacted] stated emphatically that he had never had anyone pay him or offer to pay him to give him a job and that he knows of no one who has accepted money to give another employment at the site. [redacted] stated within the last few weeks Local 113 has designated a new Business Agent and the new policy for hiring is to call Union headquarters whenever labor is required and only those individuals are hired who are referred by the union at that time.

JOHN BATTISTA TRILIEGI, after being advised that he did not have to make any statement, that any statement made might be used against him in a court of law and of his right to legal counsel, furnished the following information:

TRILIEGI stated that he was born May 29, 1914 at Omaha, Nebraska and that he presently resides with his wife and children at 2933 North Maryland Avenue, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. TRILIEGI stated that he has since July 1, 1962 been employed at the Veterans Administration site at Wood, Wisconsin as a General Labor Foreman by the construction firm of Merritt, Chapman and Scott. TRILIEGI stated that as General Foreman he has numerous duties and that it was customary for him after learning how many men were required from day to day to assist in the hiring of laborers. TRILIEGI stated that up until a few weeks ago the usual procedure was that Local 113 Business Agent [redacted] would come to the construction site and ask what the needs were with regard to labor there. TRILIEGI stated that he would tell him and that [redacted] would then indicate those men who should be hired. TRILIEGI stated that this is known as referral from the union and that he never hired anyone at the site unless [redacted]

[redacted] indicated either in person or over the phone that it was O.K. to hire a particular individual. TRILIEGI said that he has, of course, referred some of his friends as well as his relatives, namely his sons [redacted] and [redacted] as well as his son-in-laws, [redacted] and [redacted] to [redacted]

[redacted] who O.K.'d their hiring for labor jobs at the site.

TRILIEGI stated that he has heard rumors about payoffs at the site but he has never paid any attention to them. He denied specifically that he had ever received payment from anyone for the obtaining of a job or received money from an individual to stay on the job and stated emphatically that he was never approached and offered money to obtain employment for anyone.

TRILIEGI stated that he did recall several colored men whose identities he does not know offered to furnish him with "a girl" if he would get them a job but he laughed them away.

TRILIEGI denied specifically that SAM DI MAGGIO ever collected money for him from anyone to obtain employment at the site or to remain on the job. TRILIEGI stated that the rumors concerning job payoffs might have arisen from the misunderstanding about the $50 payment to join the General Laborers Union. TRILIEGI stated that those individuals who are not members of the union at the time they start work on the job, although O.K.'d by the union office or [redacted] are required to pay enrollment dues of about $50 and oftentimes are given several months to pay the total amount. Date July 22, 1963

After being advised that he did not have to make any statement and that any statement made might be used against him in a court of law and of his right to legal counsel, SAMUEL SALVATORE DI MAGGIO furnished the following information:

DI MAGGIO stated that he was born August 16, 1916 at Milwaukee, Wisconsin and presently resides at 1536 North Franklin Place, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He stated that since November of 1962 he has been employed as a laborer by Merritt, Chapman and Scott on the construction site at Wood, Wisconsin and is presently paid at the rate of $3.23 per hour. He stated that he is presently working under a labor foreman known to him only as [redacted]

[redacted] and that he has belonged to Local 113 since 1939. He pointed out that he even paid his dues in the union while he was serving time at the Wisconsin State Prison. DI MAGGIO stated that he was released from the Wisconsin State Prison on parole August 1, 1962 and that he had been sent there in 1957 to serve a 10-year term for safe burglary in Milwaukee County and an additional 5 years for burglary from Washington County, Wisconsin. He stated that he was released under the supervision of Probation Officer [redacted] but that he is presently reporting to a probation officer by the name of [redacted]

DI MAGGIO stated that he worked on several construction jobs since his release from Waupun, including Voss and Hrdlicka and the Stephenson Construction Company and in November of 1962 when seeking employment he went to the union asking for work and he was referred to the construction site at the Veterans Administration grounds at Wood, Wisconsin. Upon reporting there DI MAGGIO stated he was hired by JOHN TRILIEGI and that he has been on the job ever since the date he was hired.

DI MAGGIO stated that he never approached anyone in his behalf, in TRILIEGI's behalf or in anyone else's behalf seeking money for an opportunity for employment. DI MAGGIO stated that similarly he never received money for himself, TRILIEGI or anyone else as a payoff to have an employee stay on the job. DI MAGGIO stated that he readily admits to being a safe burglar and that he would never stoop to taking payoffs from anyone and that he never shook anybody down in his life. DI MAGGIO stated that he still has eight years to serve if his parole is revoked and that he doesn't intend to get mixed up in anything as trivial as job payoffs. DI MAGGIO stated further that while there may be other parolees working on the job site he knows of no such individuals and that he has kept pretty much to himself although at his suggestion his cousins, namely [redacted] and [redacted] [redacted] also obtained jobs at the construction site. He stated that he has never heard rumors concerning any kickbacks or job payoffs until he read with some interest of the allocations in the local newspapers.

When recontacted on August 30, 1963 Mr. BRENNAN advised that he was declining prosecution against Subjects DI MAGGIO and TRILIEGI inasmuch as the investigation did not corroborate the information furnished by the principal witness. Mr. BRENNAN stated that the only witness who furnished information indicating a violation was a convict and that the numerous other employees failed to substantiate the information furnished.

*Mr. Sullivan A.A. to Congressman
 Zablocki advised on 10-1-63.
